APPENDIXES

Appendix A Ten Largest Employers in Massachusetts	17
Appendix B List of Short Standard Industrial Classi- fication Titles (Two Digit Codes)	18
Appendix C Numerical List of Cities and Towns in Massachusetts	19

The attached lists of large employers were compiled from reports of employment and wages submitted by establishments where employment is subject to the Massachusetts Employment Security Law (with one exception). Excluded from the lists are State and Federal government installations.

For a short description of the two-digit Standard Industrial Classification Code see attached Appendix B List of Short Industry Titles. For geographic definition (city or town) of the three-digit area codes see Appendix C Numerical List of Cities and Towns in Massachusetts.

INTRODUCTION

The attached lists of employers of 500 or more workers were compiled from reports of employment and wages submitted by establishments where employment is subject to the Massachusetts Employment Security Law (with one exception). Excluded from the lists are State and Federal government installations. The reference date for employment is March 1973.

The letter "B" in the city code column indicates an employer with 500 or more employees state-wide and with installations in more than one area. Such employers are listed in Table 3--Multi-Area Employers. The code letter "C" denotes employers with 500 or more employees state-wide and conducting different activities in more than one area. These employers are listed in Table 4--Multi-Industry/Multi-Area Employers.

Table 2 lists employers conducting more than one operation in the same location.

For a short description of the Two-Digit Standard Industrial Classification Code see Appendix B List of Short Industry Titles.

For geographic definition (city or town) of the three-digit area codes see Appendix C--List of Cities and Towns in Massachusetts by 3-Digit Area Code.

INTRODUCTION

The attached lists of employers of 500 or more workers were compiled from reports of employment and wages submitted by establishments where employment is subject to the Massachusetts Employment Security Law (with one exception). Excluded from the lists are State and Federal government installations. The reference date for employment is March 1974.

The letter "M" in the city code column indicates a multi-industry and/or multi-area employer with 500 or more employees state-wide. Such employers may have installations in more than one area or may be conducting different activities within the same or different areas. These employers are listed in Table II - Multi-Industry/Multi-Area Employers.

For a short description of the Two-Digit Standard Industrial Classification Code see Appendix B-List of Short Industry Titles.

For geographic definitions (city or town) of the three-digit area codes see Appendix C--List of Cities and Towns in Massachusetts by 3-Digit Area Code.
